CIRQUE DU SOLEIL®

VAREKAI™
Tales of the Forest

Press Kit
Show Overview
Written and Directed by Dominic Champagne

Varekai is a critically-acclaimed production that has wowed over 8 million people worldwide since it first premiered in Montreal in 2002. Since then, Varekai has visited more than 72 cities in 20 different countries around the world.

Deep within a forest, at the summit of a volcano, exists an extraordinary world where something else is possible. A world called Varekai.

The sky lets go a solitary young man, and the story of Varekai begins. Parachuted into the shadows of a magical forest, a kaleidoscopic world imbued with fantastical creatures, a young man takes flight in an adventure both absurd and extraordinary. On this day at the edge of time, in this place of pure and undiluted possibility, begins an inspired incantation to a life rediscovered and to a newly found wonder in the mysteries of the world and the mind.

The word Varekai (pronounced ver-ay’-kie) means “wherever” in the Romany language of the gypsies—the universal wanderers. Written and directed by Dominic Champagne, this production pays tribute to the nomadic soul, to the spirit and art of the circus tradition, and to those who quest with infinite passion along the path that leads to Varekai.

Varekai emerges from an explosive fusion of drama and acrobatics. The impossible becomes possible in stunning displays of skill and power set against innovative music and otherworldly sets, interwoven with vivid choreography that speaks to all in the universal language of movement. The pendulum of time sweeps backward, paying tribute to the ancient and rare circus traditions of Icarian games and Georgian dance. Varekai then catapults to the future with revolutionary twists on such acts as Russian Swings and Slippery Surface.

Varekai features an international cast of 50 performers and musicians from 19 different countries.
Acts
(in alphabetical order)

Aerial Straps
Two flyers suspended by wrist straps glide gracefully above the stage, performing original acrobatic figures in a synchronized display of precision and power. With a double strap, the two artists meld midair, becoming one in a series of striking acrobatic silhouettes.

Clown Acts
No circus show would be complete without clowns! The two characters amuse the audience with acts that are simply absurd.

Flight of Icarus (The)
With agility, deftness and sensitivity, a young man performs astounding dives and contortions in the net that holds him captive.

Georgian Dance
This act takes its inspiration from a long tradition of resistance in the Republic of Georgia, where inhabitants took to battle with numerous invaders over the centuries. The movements of the dancers recall the Georgians’ struggles against powers that sought to dominate their land. Endurance, precision and more than a hint of frenzy mark this act.
Lightbulb

Always on the lookout for new inventive ways to mess or interfere in the life of the inhabitants of the forest, the Skywatcher helps the Guide in a dire situation!

Handbalancing

Showing astonishing grace, strength and flexibility, a young woman balances on a series of strategically placed canes. Poised now on her feet, now on her hands, she contorts herself on her canes, maintaining a delicate equilibrium.

Icarian Games

The Icarian Games, an ancient discipline of the circus arts rarely seen in today’s contemporary circus culture, return to center stage. The human body becomes catapult and catcher in an elaborate, explosive and highly choreographed presentation of strength, balance and agility.

Russian Swings

Propelled by two Russian swings, acrobats are hurled high into the air on their partners’ crossed wrists or on landing canvas. In feats of outstanding audacity, the acrobats even soar from one moving swing to the other!
Single-Point Trapeze
Suspended high above the stage or flying through the air on her trapeze, a young woman performs a series of movements displaying her flexibility and strength.

Slippery Surface
Darting and intertwining on a specially designed sliding surface, the artists fling and catch each other, creating an illusion of skating.

Solo on Crutches
Like a jointed puppet, a performer on crutches teeters in a stirring dance.

Sticks (Rotation Act)
Displaying incredible agility and manipulation skills, this young but fierce woman puts a twist on Baton twirling. She demonstrates extreme coordination as her sticks become an extension of her body movement.
Characters

Icare (Icarus)
Innocent and vulnerable, he finds himself wounded in an unknown world. His desire to live and overcome his fears will drive him to new heights and an eventual rebirth.

La Promise (The Betrothed)
An exotic creature who enraptures Icarus with her sensual beauty. She will be his guiding light and he, in turn, will be the catalyst for her metamorphosis.

Le Guide (The Guide)
Weathered by the sun of many centuries, he’s like a kindly, fragile great-grandfather—a wise old man whose mission is to inspire and bring about change.

La Vigie (The Skywatcher)
Mad scientist and ingenious inventor, collector of the world’s memories and interpreter of signs, this is a man who receives signals, transforms sounds and forewarns of trials and tribulations.
Costumes

Eiko Ishioka has had a hand in several artistic disciplines, including designing costumes for the cinema, theatre and opera. However, the circus arts were uncharted territory for her. For Varekai, she set herself the double challenge of designing resolutely original costumes and giving new shapes to the traditional Lycra bodysuit.

Safety, comfort and freedom of movement are essential factors in the design of acrobatic costumes. Never losing sight of these objectives, Eiko Ishioka dreamt up exuberant costumes that make the already spectacular acrobatic feats look even more audacious. The vibrant, flamboyant colours and unusual shapes of Eiko Ishioka’s costumes accentuate the artists’ movements, enhancing their beauty and grace.

Varekai Costume Fun Facts:
• The design of Varekai’s costumes involved finding technical solutions to ensure comfort and safety. The highly skilled costume makers fashioned the most original creations — after no less than 33,000 hours of hard work!
• Moleskin (Lycra) continues to be one of the most popular fabrics, on account of its flexible, elastic and easy care properties. Some special materials were also used, such as flexible titanium rods, sponge nylon, and different types of fire-resistant materials.
• The show has over 600 costumes, shoes, wigs, hats and accessories.
• It takes a total of 250 hours a week to keep the costumes impeccable on tour.
• The artist’s make-up is so complex that it can take between 45 minutes to an hour and a half to apply and each artist does their own!
• The Varekai wardrobe team consists of 4 permanent touring staff and 2 local wardrobe employees in each city who launder, repair, iron, repaint the shoes and retouch the hats.

Cirque du Soleil Costume Fun Facts:
• All costumes are custom-made and the majority are produced at the Costume workshop in the International Headquarters in Montreal, Canada.
• The only facility of its kind in North America, it has over 300 full-time employees, including specialists in fields as varied as shoemaking, textile design, lace-making, wig-making, patternmaking, costumes making and millinery.
• Each year, the Costume workshop artisans use more than 150 kilometres of fabrics. 80% of all fabrics are treated and dyed in-house by the artisans of the textile design team.
• Shoes are hand- and custom-made for all artists by the artisans of the shoe workshop. The leather pieces are dyed, trimmed and assembled on location. Brand new sports or dance shoes are sometimes altered to meet the specific requirements of a costume. On average, nearly 3,000 pairs of shoes are produced by the workshop every year.
• Hats can be seen in every Cirque du Soleil show and are a key part of the costumes. Like the costumes, they are custom-designed and made in the workshop. To do this, the milliners mould and build the hats on models of the artists’ heads. When artists arrive at Cirque du Soleil, they must have a mould made of their head.
Music

To create the musical score for Varekai, Violaine Corradi drew inspiration from the vast repertoire of world music. Each piece seems to evoke a meeting or juxtaposition of different cultures, which are not always identifiable.

Violaine Corradi combined the sounds of Hawaiian rituals, the songs of 11th-century troubadours from the south of France, traditional Armenian melodies and gospel music with contemporary arrangements to conjure up the unique musical universe of Varekai.

The 7-piece band includes a bandleader/keyboard player, a second keyboard player, drummer, percussionist, bassist, violinist and a wind instruments player and two singers—one male (The Patriarch) and one female (The Muse).

In almost all of Cirque du Soleil shows, the music is performed live. Unlike musicals, the music needs to adapt to what is going on on-stage and not the other way around. To do so, the band leader, the musicians, the singers and the sound staff are in constant communication via headsets and microphones during the show.
Set Design

Stéphane Roy set out to create a contextualized set for Varekai — a design in which all the elements harmonize with the poetry and language of performance: costumes, scenery, and music.

The Varekai universe is made up of . . .

The Forest
A fabulous and mysterious hideaway where the Varekai characters have made their home. Consisting of over 300 “trees” between 4.5 metres and 10.5 metres tall, the forest is also interspersed with twenty-odd “acrobatic trees” that its inhabitants can climb up to see what’s going on.

The Stage
Extending out of the golden forest, this is the terrain on which the characters move about. It’s a golden clearing with a diameter of 12.8 metres. Specially designed for the show’s aesthetic and acrobatic needs, the stage harbours five traps, two turntables and an elevating platform.

The Catwalk
Reminiscent of the spine of an immense bird, the catwalk is the invention of the forest’s inhabitants. It allows them to step outside, collect bits and pieces and climb high in their quest to touch the sky. Used by artists to travel over the stage from one end to the other, this 30-metre long staircase is key to their survival.

The Lookout
At the end of the catwalk, just above the audience, is the lookout—the centrepiece of the set. It is a link to the outside world, a lookout point to see what lies ahead. This 7 square-metre platform also serves as a cabin for one of the forest’s inhabitants.

THE MISSION
The mission of Cirque du Soleil is to invoke the imagination, provoke the senses and evoke the emotions of people around the world.

THE CREATION OF CIRQUE DU SOLEIL
It all started in Baie-Saint-Paul, a small town near Québec City in Canada. There, in the early eighties, a band of colourful characters roamed the streets, striding on stilts, juggling, dancing, breathing fire, and playing music. They were Les Échassiers de Baie-Saint-Paul (the Baie-Saint-Paul Stiltwalkers), a street theatre group founded by Gilles Ste-Croix. Already, the townsfolk were impressed and intrigued by the young performers – including Guy Laliberté who founded Cirque du Soleil.

The troupe went on to found Le Club des talons hauts (the High Heels Club), and then, in 1982, organized La Fête foraine de Baie-Saint-Paul, a cultural event in which street performers from all over met to exchange ideas and enliven the streets of the town for a few days. La Fête foraine was repeated in 1983 and 1984. Le Club des talons hauts attracted notice, and Guy Laliberté, Gilles Ste-Croix and their cronies began to cherish a crazy dream: to create a Québec circus and take the troupe travelling around the world.

In 1984, Québec City was celebrating the 450th anniversary of Canada’s discovery by Jacques Cartier, and they needed a show that would carry the festivities out across the province. Guy Laliberté presented a proposal for a show called Cirque du Soleil (Circus of the Sun), and succeeded in convincing the organizers. And Cirque du Soleil hasn’t stopped since!
